Venite    Psalm 95

Read responsively

Come, let us sing to the Lord; *

let us shout for joy to the Rock of our salvation.

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving *

and raise a loud shout to him with psalms.

For the Lord is a great God, *

and a great King above all gods.

In his hand are the caverns of the earth, *

and the heights of the hills are his also.

The sea is his, for he made it, *
and his hands have molded the dry land.

Come, let us bow down, and bend the knee, *
and kneel before the Lord our Maker.

For he is our God,
and we are the people of his pasture and the sheep of his hand. *
Oh, that today you would hearken to his voice!

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be,
world without end. Amen.

Psalm 1

- 1 Happy are they who have not walked in the counsel of the wicked, *
nor lingered in the way of sinners, nor sat in the seats of the scornful!
- 2 Their delight is in the law of the LORD, *
and they meditate on his law day and night.
- 3 They are like trees planted by streams of water, bearing fruit in due season, with leaves that do not wither; *
everything they do shall prosper.
- 4 It is not so with the wicked; *
they are like chaff which the wind blows away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand upright when judgment comes, *
nor the sinner in the council of the righteous.

6 For the LORD knows the way of the righteous, *
but the way of the wicked is doomed.

The Lessons

The First Reading: Jeremiah 18:1-11

The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: "Come, go down to the potter's house, and there I will let you hear my words." So I went down to the potter's house, and there he was working at his wheel. The vessel he was making of clay was spoiled in the potter's hand, and he reworked it into another vessel, as seemed good to him.

Then the word of the LORD came to me: Can I not do with you, O house of Israel, just as this potter has done? says the LORD. Just like the clay in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand, O house of Israel. At one moment I may declare concerning a nation or a kingdom, that I will pluck up and break down and destroy it, but if that nation, concerning which I have spoken, turns from its evil, I will change my mind about the disaster that I intended to bring on it. And at another moment I may declare concerning a nation or a kingdom that I will build and plant it, but if it does evil in my sight, not listening to my voice, then I will change my mind about the good that I had intended to do to it. Now, therefore, say to the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: Thus says the LORD: Look, I am a potter shaping evil against you and devising a plan against you. Turn now, all of you from your evil way, and amend your ways and your doings.

Canticle 2

Read in unison

Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou for the name of thy Majesty; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou in the temple of thy holiness; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou that beholdest the depths,
and dwellest between the Cherubim; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou on the glorious throne of thy kingdom; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou in the firmament of heaven; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

Blessed art thou, O Father, Son, and Holy Spirit; *
praised and exalted above all for ever.

The Second Reading: Philemon 1-21

Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy our brother,

To Philemon our dear friend and co-worker, to Apphia our sister, to Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church in your house:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

When I remember you in my prayers, I always thank my God because I hear of your love for all the saints and your faith toward the Lord Jesus. I pray that the sharing of your faith may become effective when you perceive all the good that we may do for Christ. I have indeed received much joy and encouragement from your love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed through you, my brother.

For this reason, though I am bold enough in Christ to command you to do your duty, yet I would rather appeal to you on the basis of love-- and I, Paul, do this as an old man, and now also as a prisoner of Christ Jesus. I am appealing to you for my child, Onesimus, whose father I have become during my imprisonment. Formerly he was useless to you, but now he is indeed useful both to you and to me. I am sending him, that is, my own heart, back to you. I wanted to keep him with me, so that he might be of service to me in your place during my imprisonment for the gospel; but I preferred to do nothing without your consent, in order that your good deed might be voluntary and not something forced. Perhaps this is the reason he was separated from you for a while, so that you might have him back forever, no longer as a slave but more than a slave, a beloved brother-- especially to me but how much more to you, both in the flesh and in the Lord.

So if you consider me your partner, welcome him as you would welcome me. If he has wronged you in any way, or owes you anything, charge that to my account. I, Paul, am writing this with my own hand: I will repay it. I say nothing about your owing me even your own self. Yes, brother, let me have this benefit from you in the Lord! Refresh my heart in Christ. Confident of your obedience, I am writing to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say.

Canticle S-280

Gloria in Excelsis

Robert Powell

Glory to God in the highest,
and peace to his people on earth.

Lord God, heavenly King, almighty God and Father,
we worship you; we give you thanks,
we praise you for your glory.

Lord Jesus Christ, only Son of the Father, Lord God, Lamb of God, you take away the sin of the world: have mercy on us;
you are seated at the right hand of the Father receive our prayer.

*For you alone are the Holy One,
you alone are the Lord,
you alone are the Most High, Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, in the glory of God the Father. Amen.*

The Third Reading: Luke 14:25-33

Now large crowds were traveling with Jesus; and he turned and said to them, "Whoever comes to me and does not hate father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, and even life itself, cannot be my disciple. Whoever does not carry the cross and follow me cannot be my disciple. For which of you, intending to build a tower, does not first sit down and estimate the cost, to see whether he has enough to complete it? Otherwise, when he has laid a foundation and is not able to finish, all who see it will begin to ridicule him, saying, 'This fellow began to build and was not able to finish.' Or what king, going out to wage war against another king, will not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to oppose the one who comes against him with twenty thousand? If he cannot, then, while the other is still far away, he sends a delegation and asks for the terms of peace. So therefore, none of you can become my disciple if you do not give up all your possessions."

Thoughts on the Gospel lesson from Fr. Glenn

Do you think people who join political movements consider what it might cost them if they participate? They could lose their job or have parents or other family members who don't agree with their decision, they could get caught up in something beyond their control and get arrested, or they could even get killed like the Kent State demonstration so long ago.

In the Gospel this morning Jesus is talking to the crowd of people who are following him on his journey. Some followed him because they have found healing, others followed because they have been fed along the way, still others because they were captivated by his message or his charisma. Jesus wanted them to consider what it could cost them if they choose to follow him. They could find themselves in opposition to their family and out of step with their whole society. They could end up on a cross themselves! Jesus' message is clear: Don't be naïve! Consider what it might cost you to be my disciple! Many early Christians lost their lives because they chose to follow Jesus.

The letter of Philemon is a practical application of this. In this letter Paul is seeking to have Onesimus (a slave who is owned by Philemon and has been assisting Paul during his imprisonment) treated no longer as a slave but as an equal when he returns to Philemon's house. Paul wants Philemon to welcome Onesimus back "no longer as a slave but more than a slave, a beloved brother-- especially to me but how much more to you, both in the flesh and in the Lord."

This illustrates some of the problems the early church had to deal with. What happens to slaves of Christians, especially when the slaves too become Christian!? Are the slaves freed? Are they considered equals in the Christian community gatherings? This whole idea of treated slaves like equals was considered a very dangerous thing to Roman society and dangerous to the stability of the Empire.

'Whoever comes to me and does not hate father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, and even life itself, cannot be my disciple.' Jesus' does not use the word "hate" here in the sense of despising your family and relatives or even detesting your life. Rather he is using the word “hate” in the sense of “renouncing one choice in favor of another”. Matthew has Jesus making this statement with slightly different words “anyone who loves his father and mother more than me is not worthy of me.” (Mt 10:37)

When I served a church in Skokie, Illinois, we had a Jewish woman who encountered Jesus and wanted to be baptized as a Christian. Her family did not agree and told her if she went through with the baptism she would be disowned. She would no longer be considered a part of the family. She had to give up her family to be a part of the Christian family.

The metaphor we read this morning from Jeremiah is precisely what this woman experienced. God, the potter, took the clay of this woman’s life and reworked it, making it into something different that it started out to be. Sometimes the clay of our lives only needs slight reworking, just a bit of an adjustment. And sometimes in life it is obvious that an old vessel needs to be reduced to its base material and remade into a vessel the potter truly intends it to be. This doesn’t happen overnight; it is a lifelong process.

Dr. Mitzi Smith, Professor of New Testament at Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga gives a different insight into this teaching, she states: “Jesus understands that there are consequences associated with following Jesus, with conducting one’s life in the way that Jesus does.” She goes on to say: “I propose that Jesus does not refer to a hate toward family members in the sense of an absence of love. Perhaps what Jesus means by hating family is to refuse to live by narrow, exclusive ideas of family when it comes to meeting human needs and contributing to the wholeness of all human beings.” She goes on to say: ‘If one accepts a narrow view of family and values life more than the justice and love of God, one will not take risks for the most vulnerable in society; one will not privilege the justice and love of God above social position, wealth, celebrity, and applause.’
